DETAILED ACTION

1. In view of the amendment of December 18, 2006, new claims 36-37 have been added. Claims 16-37 are pending.
2. In view of the amendment of December 18, 2006, the rejection of claims 16-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, regarding "diverting the flow..." is withdrawn.
3. In view of the argument filed December 18, 2006, Hopkins et al. do not teach a process involving an alpha-olefin, which has an empirical formula C_nH_{2n} . Therefore, the rejection of claims 16-35 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hopkins et al. (US 4,419,466), is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 1713

5. Claims 16-35, 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for high density polyethylene, does not reasonably provide enablement for alpha-olefins which broadly includes a large number of species of alpha-olefins. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make/use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Applicants must recognize that alpha-olefins generically include ethylene, propylene....etc., in which each of the alpha-olefins has different material properties. Therefore, the examiner has a reasonable basis that the specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make/use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claims 16-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1713

Claims 16, 36, 37, the recitation "flowing a portion of ... slurry through a bypass line extending from one location of said loop reactor to another location of ... loop reactor" is considered indefinite. Since the claimed invention can involve more than one loop within the reactor being claimed, it is unclear if the claimed invention also encompasses the bypass to set up a bypass from one loop to another loop within the loop reactor being claimed. Applicants must recognize that the original specification (page 3, line 13) only provide a support for a bypass within the "same loop". Appropriate correction is required.
